

The term crisis when speaking about homelessness refers to a situation where a young person finds themselves with no options to be in a safe and stable living environment at present and potentially for some period of time.